Schwab School public meeting scheduled

by Donnell Stump

Charles Palermo, who is heading up the committee to save the Schwab School, spoke to the Weatherly Borough Council during their July 26 meeting, telling them of the efforts so far.

A public meeting of the Charles M. Schwab School Restoration Project will be held on Tuesday, August 16 at 6:30 p.m. at the Eurana Park bandshell. Palermo asked people to please consider attending to learn more about how everyone's help will be utilized to accomplish this undertaking.

Palermo reported to council that 501.c.3 status is being sought. He also noted that board members toured the structure recently and are quite confident that an offer can be made for the purchase of the building.

A pledge letter is going out with the utility bills this month and the Weatherly Area High School Alumni Association has agreed to distribute that pledge request to their membership as well, many of whom no longer reside within the borough.

Palermo thanked Phil Jeffries for his constant effort to keep people informed via the Save our School Facebook page.

He also reported that Dawn Bellizia, another committee member and owner of Dawn's Vinyl Designs, has a large number of items available for sale at her Carbon Street shop. Proceeds from the sale of these items will go toward the Save our School effort.

Keep RR crossing open

by Ruth Isenberg

White Haven Borough Council wisely rejected a proposed “solution” by the Reading, Blue Mountain & Northern Railroad to the atrocious condition of the railroad crossing at Northumberland Street. At their July meeting, council voted to reject a proposal to permanently close the crossing for a one-time payment of $27,500.

It wouldn’t matter if the payment were 10 times that much—the answer should still be no. Closing that crossing would leave the borough with only one good way to cross the tracks. Main Street would be separated from the rest of the community if the crossing at Berwick Street became blocked. The community’s fire and emergency vehicles would be cut off from the town’s business district. While light traffic could still use the underpass on Susquehanna Street, large vehicles like fire engines or delivery trucks could not.

Because PA Route 940 carries a moderate volume of traffic most days, and a very high volume when there is an incident on Interstate 80, the Susquehanna Street route could not handle that volume safely.

Keep the crossing open. And it’s past time to upgrade the Northumberland Street crossing. Keep White Haven safe.

On the front page, the Warner’s Store of Weatherly advertised Berkshire stockings, men’s crepe sole shoes – now $4.95, Sweet Orr trousers and work shirts, and Van Heusen shirts and more. Wertman’s Hardware at First and Carbon Streets offered paints, Hollytone plants, a special Revere 1 1/2 quart covered sauce pot, and more. Lauderbach & Co. on Broad St. in Hazleton has big savings on children’s clothes and shoes.

Insurance man Elmer Young sold his business—the oldest in Weatherly—to George Somers of Weatherly. Young conducted business for 28 years, continuing the business first established by John W. Hunter.

The Citizens Fire Company picnic will be held this weekend at the Foundry Grove. Tickets are still available from Hoppy Hughes, Ken Billman, Bunk Simkovich or Clarence Kreiger, or at the fire rooms, borough building.

Allen Hoffman, a local contractor, has purchased the garage business and property of Harold Koch on Plane Street.

Erdman’s Service Station on East Main Street in Weatherly

Pickers, Daisy Jug Band, Cold Springs, The Holt Twins, Die Dische Barick Jiggers, and Tony T. Tickets are $8 in advance.

lescents and adults. She recently completed a three year residency in family practice at Wyoming Valley Family Practice Center in Kingston.

More than 100 children are enrolled in Eurana Park’s water safety program this summer. It’s sponsored by the Weatherly Area Community Chest and the American Red Cross. It continues through August 6 with testing on August 8.

The Town Tavern & Restaurant at 430 Main Street in White Haven is offering pizza and hot pretzels to go—they’re the home of the hot pretzel sandwich. Serving breakfast, too. The Tavern is open seven days a week.

Ira Berger & Sons in Free-land has a sale on cedar stockade fence—just $26.60 for a 6’ by 8’ section.

This edition features an old-time entertainment program from the collection of Florence Sensenbach of White Haven. The program is of a play, “The Beantown Choir,” performed at the Legion Hall in White Haven on February 19, 1932. Among the performers were Cloyd Sensenbach, Elsie Baker, Charles Mengle, Betty Schafer, W. C. Clymer, Helen Caswell, Frank, John and Harold Middleton, and over a dozen more. The play looks to be a comedy about discord in the choir.

Broadening the business base in Kidder Township

by Jeanine Hofbauer

Carbon County Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development Corporation representatives detailed doors open to broadening business in Kidder Township at the July 21 supervisors' meeting. Chamber Executive Director Marlyn Kissner joined Carbon County Director of Economic Development Kathy Henderson explaining initiatives geared toward educating entrepreneurs and connecting employers with employees as a means of strengthening the overall economic growth in the county.

Kissner said a partnership with the Greater Lehigh Valley Chamber "brings strength" further creating business opportunities with enhanced networking and marketing efforts.

Henderson, shown above, reported a need in the area for jobs in technical professions including welding, electrical and engineering fields, while creating innovative ideas for future planning such as transportation, highways and bridges.

Supervisor Thomas LaFond asked about the township's eligibility to join the organization. Kissner said many participate.

"[Perhaps there are] different avenues within the Chamber a township would benefit from," he suggested.

thing for everyone but something different to everyone," she stated regarding a question about Homeowners Association participation.

Calling Kidder a "borderline township in Carbon County," supervisor Barbara Franzosa concluded "This crew has done so much to bring events up here to us."

An woman addressed supervisors emotionally pleading for township intervention in the ongoing investigation involving an altercation at a local restaurant. Expressing frustration over the time it has taken to investigate a May 2015 parking lot incident that included her then fiancé and friends with another group that left her now husband recovering from physical disabilities including visual impairment, she asked for "followup" assistance with Kidder Police Department.

LaFond urged her to leave a copy of the letter detailing the concerns for board review and discussion with Police Chief Matt Kuzma, who was absent from the meeting. He added that no comment would be made regarding the ongoing investigation.

Bills totaling $175,629.12, that included $50,000 to Albrightsville Volunteer Fire Company for airbags, were approved for payment.

Supervisors LaFond, Bruce Berger, Thomas Bradley, Franzosa, and

Frank Pieri, along with business manager Llsa Klem, secretary/treasurer Suzanne Brooks, solicitor Dan Miscavige and approximately 30 members of the public were present.

Kidder Township's next regular meeting is planned for 7 p.m. August 18 at the Township Municipal Building on Lake Harmony Road just north of Route 903.

Veterans Corner by John Kearns

For all followers of Veterans Corner that enjoy my writing, I am happy to inform you the during the past year I have written and will now publish a book to be released this fall titled "Grey Wolf of Superior." It will be available at all major outlets. I plan two book signings in White Haven.

I must thank all who encouraged me to complete this novel and did my best to write an exciting story that tells not only of the times of a Coast Guard career, but lessons learned of our nation's vulnerability. The book centers itself on the complex operations of working Coast Guard units butting heads with politics that strangle the dedication and devotion of our military, our police and those who serve the public daily, and the extreme frustration of knowing there is something wrong and the inability to stop it.

It tells of dedicated men and women in our military and home town police forces coming together in times of crisis "To Serve and Protect" the people of our nation. Something we all took an oath to do.

The ugly phrase of "Politically Correct" is more than a term, it is a knife at the throat of every American family and its future generations. Old laws and treaties would prevent our Navy from acting in the best interests of our nation. The ropes that bind our Army, Marines and Air Force from defeating foreign enemies from attacking domestically from within. A sinister plot using our own constitution to aggressively attack our nation in a very unconventional way, and the first use of a nuclear weapon against our nation—I do not want give away the entire plot.

I must thank The Journal-Herald for the space they provided me in the early days. Starting out, they stood by me as the skills were at times unpolished and rough around the edges. Over the years, the skills and stories improved. Despite offers from larger newspapers, loyalty to The Journal and people of my hometown was more important than larger circulation and the obvious rewards it would bring. I will remain loyal to The Journal.

Dates and times of when the book will be published will be listed here as we get closer to the completion of the publisher's production stage.

The difficulty and challenges of writing is especially amplified writing in one's hometown. Everyone you know is important, unlike writing blindly for a large audience who accepts things as they are. And a big bonus is their ability to criticize the smallest error.

Everyone who enjoyed Veterans Corner over the years has been a strict editor and staunch critic, requiring each submission to meet higher and higher standards. This, over the years gave me the confidence to sit down and write a book, not only a book for me, but one that will now reach book shelves in every state in our nation. It will also be released internationally.

I must also thank the many close friends who chose to "nag" me into completion, good friends and family who would not settle for "maybe I will" or "I am working on it" and other discouraging terms. I heard "Get busy" or "What's the hold up?" or "How can I help?" The terms they used to help me accomplish, and because of the many of those who did, to quote a sailors' term – "I had wind in my sails" not an anchor on my back.

With this goal reached, they still encourage more from me. I have already started my next manuscript for this series, and dug out an old manuscript I started many years ago. Traveling the nation and world, I started recording recipes and ceremonies related to food and dining. It will be called "The Mess Deck" and will relate worldwide cuisines and ceremony and the interesting stories behind them. It is a challenging project, but a worthwhile one.

To quote another saying from one of my mentors growing up, "Rome was not built in a day, but I was not on that job." They say there is a story and a book in all of us. Everyone has a story to tell and for me, I have to thank my hometown, friends and family and Journal-Herald.

Sometimes it takes a little push to jump in the waters of life. I am proud to have gotten it here, in a place called White Haven, PA.

As outreach person the president sent a get-well card to Karen Allen, who is coming along nicely. Due to her absence there was no trip news to report. If you know of any of our members who are ill or have lost a family member, please call President Anthony at 570-443-7736.

Don't forget - our corn roast will be held Thursday, August 25 at Eurana Park in Weatherly. We will play bingo at one o'clock and eat supper at four o'clock. Water will be provided during the afternoon. The menu is hotdogs, hamburgers, corn, potato salad, macaroni salad, broccoli salad, beverages, and for dessert fruit salad. The cost is $15 and Joan Chambers is taking reservations. If you didn't sign up yet you can do so at our next meeting on August 11, or if you can't make that meeting, call Chambers at 570-527-8131 and let her know you'd like to come.

Chaplain D'Andrea reported on two possible dates for our Christmas party, and it was voted on to have it on Wednesday, December 14 at one o'clock in the afternoon at the L & L Fire Company hall. Other party committee members are Georgeanne Herling and Mary Baran.

Chaplain D'Andrea read a Poem, "A Perfect Day."

Committee for the meeting, Barbara and Bob Tissier and Darleen Solomon served delicious chicken salad on a soft roll, potato chips, pretzels and different kinds of candy.

Bingo was enjoyed by all.

Seth's Sightings by Seth Isenberg

There's something about a summer's sunset after a beautiful day that makes the season extra special. Ruth and I enjoyed a special sunset over Lake Walenpaupack last Tuesday, as we were taking care of a customer in that area that evening, then stayed to grab a dinner and enjoy the spectacle.

This past weekend was NACAR's annual summertime visit to our area. We turned out with friends to support all the hundreds of people who make this weekend come together. Friday's ARCA race enjoyed beautiful weather, but a late start so we couldn't stay until the end as we had tickets for the opening night of the Buck Hill/Skytop Music Festival's Broadway review, Nobody Does It Like Me. Four stars of Broadway performed for this, making for a thoroughly entertaining evening. As full of a day as Friday was for us, we even stayed after the show to hear the talk-back session where audience members got to ask questions of the performers. It was wonderful. — We arrived home exhausted.

Saturday after a little work we were back at Pocono Raceway for the running of the Craftsman Truck Series race. Fans endured nine cautions. There was a very good turnout by the fans, making me Pocono proud.

Saturday night we returned for another show by the BHS Music Festival, this one featuring the National Chorale with opera and musical theatre selections, then a performance of Carmina Burana by Carl Orff—featuring a full chorus, soloists, two pianos and seven percussionists—big drums, small drums, bells, cymbals, and more. This was a spectacle, and another late night.

On Sunday, we had set aside most of the day for the NACAR race—the one that didn't happen because just as the track had dried, another rainstorm lined up. After the race was canceled, we took our time in heading back to where we had parked, because it was going to be a long wait to exit the parking lot. On Monday I went back to the track after some morning work at the office, Ruth stayed behind. With some friends, I enjoyed the weather-delayed, then fog shortened race. It was a fun afternoon — with weird weather. I returned to work just before the next series of thunderstorms came through. White Haven got poured on — a near flood for a short time.

I have a renewed appreciation for people who are allergic to bee stings. During a walk with Chess in a light rain this weekend, I somehow blundered near a nest of wasps (I think) and was given two quick stings as a warning, one on the forehead, one on the shoulder. Sightings include what I believe to be an osprey, perched upon the Blake-slee industrial park sign just off Interstate 80 later on Saturday.

Also, I came upon a turkey hen and its chicks crossing Stoney Hollow Road on Friday afternoon.

Ruth and I have been invited to a RailRiders baseball game on Friday night and are looking forward to it — hoping for good weather. Business takes us to Philly on Saturday — we hope to fit in some fun there, or — if not — maybe at the Bethlehem Musikfest (which starts this Friday and goes to the 14th). We are looking at going there Tuesday night (Scythian is up from D.C., and there's a fabulous 70s band). We want to return Saturday the 13th to see the bands on the British Invasion stage among others — and are assembling a group to go.

This Sunday afternoon, we will be attending the Buck Hill Skytop Music Festival's Cabaret performance at the Skytop Lodge (inside this year) — the wrap-up show of their wonderful Poconos festival. So, a busy Poconos summer week for us — see you out there...

Tour two historic mansions in Jim Thorpe

The Carbon Chamber & Economic Development Corporation invites their members and local business professionals to experience wonder at their August "Business Spotlight" Networking Event on August 4 from 5:30 - 8 p.m. at the Harry Packer Mansion located at 19 Packer Hill Road in Jim Thorpe.

Join them for the opportunity to meet a diverse mix of enterprising and successful CCEDC members and local business professionals while you enjoy touring these two historic mansions in Jim Thorpe. After the tours, members will have an opportunity to stroll in Kemmerer Park— a beautifully landscaped public space containing walking paths, Victorian structures, and recreational equipment. There will be light refreshments and snacks and a cash bar to quench your thirst.

The Asa Packer Mansion was the home of philanthropist railroad magnate, and founder of Lehigh University, Asa Packer. Built in 1861 by Philadelphia architect, Samuel Sloan, the home was constructed over a span of two years and cost a total of $14,000. Topped by a red-ribbed tin roof and a central cupola, or belvedere, the home was built over a cast iron frame and consists of 3 stories, 18 rooms and approximately 11,000 square feet of living space. It is now open for guided tours from 11-4 every day. For more information, visit www.asapackermansion.com.

The Harry Packer Mansion Inn is location in the little Victorian village of Jim Thorpe. Perched atop Packer Hill, just steps from historic downtown, the Harry Packer Mansion sits like a sentinel overlooking the village. The mansion's impressive façade could have been taken from a Gothic novel, so much so that the building's design caught the eye of Disney Imagineers and it became the inspiration for Walt Disney World's "Haunted Mansion!" The mansion features murder mystery weekends, luxurious lodging and Libations Lounge. To learn more about their programs and events, please visit www.murdermansion.com.

A $5 donation will be collected at the door to benefit local non-profits; The Dimmick Library and Turn to Us. To register, please contact the CCEDC office at 610-379-5000 or at info@carboncountychamber.org. Find out more about how the Carbon Chamber & Economic Development Corporation can help grow your business by visiting their web site at www.carboncountychamber.org.

Performance of "Love's Labour's Lost"

When a king swears off women and wine, dragging his reluctant friends along with him in Shakespeare's "Love's Labour's Lost," the unexpected arrival of a princess and her friends sets the stage for a romantic comedy at Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival, the professional theatre company at DeSales University.

"Love's Labour's Lost" closes August 7. The production is sponsored by Air Products and is co-sponsored by Keenan Nagle Advertising, Inc. Performances are Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays at 8 p.m.; Saturdays at 2 and 8 p.m.; Sundays at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Single tickets start at $25; youth and military prices are available.

The production style is considered "Extreme Shakespeare"—one that is rehearsed and performed akin to the way that Shakespeare's actors would have: actors arrive with their lines learned, rehearse on their own, wear what they can find, and open in a matter of days. No director, the position didn't exist in Shakespeare's time, and no designers.

King Ferdinand of Navarre, played by Spencer Plachy, has issued a decree that he will give up women and love in pursuit of academic rigor, convincing three of his lords to join him. His plans are compromised when the beautiful and intellectual Princess of France is sent by her father to negotiate a debt, bringing an entourage of equally smart lady friends.

PSF veteran and Emmy nominee Marnie Schulenburg portrays the Princess and her real-life husband Zack Robidas plays the role of Berowne, one of the lords. The cast also features Mattie Hawkinson as the quick-witted Rosaline. Anthony Lawton joins the cast as Don Adriano de Armado, a Spaniard, as well as Christopher Patrick Mullen, who plays Costard, the clown. PSF veteran actor Wayne S. Turney plays Boyet, the ladies' advisor and messenger. Peter Schmitz rounds out the cast as Holofernes, the snobbish schoolmaster.

Savoring Shakespeare, a specialty dinner themed for the production, will offer a behind-the-scenes discussion on August 6 and 7 at 5 p.m. An informal talkback with the cast will take place after the show on August 4.

In addition, prior to every performance, a free "prologue" with a member of the PSF staff provides insights into the play in an informal setting, 45 minutes before curtain in the theatre.

Also running are "The Little Mermaid" (through August 6); "The Taming of the Shrew" (through Aug. 7); "Blithe Spirit" (through Aug. 7); and "Shakespeare for Kids" (July 27-Aug. 6). "West Side Story" and "Julius Caesar" have closed.

Kathleen Kund Nolan and Timothy E. Nolan are serving as season sponsors for the third time in the Festival's 25-year history. Associate season sponsors are the Harry C. Trexler Trust, Linda Lapos and Paul Wirth, Dr. James and Penny Pantano and the Szarko Family. The season media sponsor is The Morning Call.

PSF is a constituent of the Theatre Communications Group (TCG), the national organization for the American theatre, and a member of the Greater Philadelphia Cultural Alliance, the Shakespeare Theatre Association, the Lehigh Valley Arts Council, and Discover Lehigh Valley.

For ticket information, contact PSF at 610-282-WILL [9455], ext. 1, or online at www.pashakespeare.org.
